Staff proposes several trail realignments based on locally-adopted plans and projects:

Hunter's Point

Consider adopting new spine alignment through the Hunter's Point Shipyard area and deleting the current inland on-street alignment.

San Rafael

Consider a minor realignment in downtown San Rafael that incorporates an existing Class I creekside path and eliminates on-street alignments with no bicycle facilities.

San Jose

Consider adopting new spine alignment along the north side of Highway 237 between Zanker Road and the Coyote Creek Trail and deleting current alignment to the north across private property.
