
Disclaimer:

The Bay Area Housing Opportunity Sites Inventory is a work in progress that identifies parcels jurisdictions have designated in their 2007-2014 housing elements as potential locations for future housing development. Additional information regarding the planned development potential of each site (total units, parcel zoning, etc.) will be added in subsequent releases. Please note that although jurisdictions have identified sites for potential housing development it does not indicate that development is imminent or will occur in those locations at all. Finally, while sites in the inventor are identified by parcel it does not indicate that the entire parcel is slated to be developed.